The need to making our world a better place to living is a task for every sane being as the 21st century marks the turning point in designing those activities that will definitely determine how long that mankind would live on the planet earth. Man in his quest for a better living, security and economic supremacy via technological advancement has often done a series of damages to his environment. The Ozone layer (O3) is bedeviled leading to global warming and increases in sea level and there are marked increase in desert encroachment especially in sub-Sahara Africa.

If the demand for Uranium and other deadly chemical substances is low, Then the export business will definitely fall. This is why we all must unite to ensure that the nuclear cycle in our world is broken.

I have already started a one-man campaign against nuclear and toxic Materials. As a freelance journalist I am using my article to sensitizes the public and appeal to the Nigerian government as far as this regards.

The United States of America, Russia, China, India and Pakistan, North Korea and even Israel and Iran who are the world leading manufacturers of nuclear powers must all be prevailed upon to honor previous conventions on nuclear reduction. We cannot restrict our War on nuclear power to rallies alone but by a full participation of peace activists in government.

I am therefore calling on all peace activists on all the world to seek for elective post in their various countries of origin. If we have a good number of these activists in the parliaments, they would help to influence the parliamentary debate on matters that concern nuclear power, weapons or waste.

We must all unite to fight nuclear threats to our world.

I am Mr. Inakoju Dada Sylvester.
